Young Nature Stewards: Citizen Science Showcase

Featuring inspiring conversations with citizen scientists and conservation heroes, this free event will offer ideas for teachers and parents on how kids (ages eight to twelve) can get involved in citizen science–focused conservation efforts. The showcase is perfect, too, for librarians and bookstores looking to involve their communities!

Learn, get inspired, and transform your enthusiasm into action!

Sign up via email to receive a registration link. All interviews will be hosted on Zoom and archived on our website for later viewing. We will have downloadable resources, links to featured projects, giveaways, a social media asset kit, and more!
